

Choosing a picture coffin or ashes urn

Helping you every step of the way

Dignity and the environment

The majority of Dignity coffins are British made in our manufacturing facility in Hutton Cranswick, East Yorkshire.

In choosing a coffin we are aware that caring for the environment is an important consideration for many of our clients.

Our aim is to provide our clients with excellent quality and service whilst looking to reduce any impact on the environment.

To this end Dignity have gained accreditation with the internationally recognised standard of environmental best practice; ISO14001.

What does this mean?

At Dignity we aim to continually improve our environmental performance and we are therefore committed to:

- Caring for the environment and prevention of pollution.
- Operating the business to the environmental systems required by ISO14001.
- Abiding by all relevant environmental legislation and applicable requirements.
- Minimising waste, promoting recycling, reducing energy and raw material consumption, and reducing harmful emissions.
- Working with suppliers to promote positive environmental actions.

- Continually improving our environmental performance by setting objectives, actions and targets.
- Communicating our policy within our organisation and to the public.

These aims are accomplished through our Environmental Management System which is regularly audited and reviewed to monitor that it is achieving the aims of our Environmental Policy.

FSC: Forestry Stewardship Council

The majority of our coffins are FSC certified. This certification ensures that the wooden products used in our coffin manufacturing come from forests that are managed to high standards. These standards include social, environmental and economic issues.

Our FSC system ensures traceability of the wood from the forests through all stages of processing and distribution. We also have systems to monitor the purchase, handling and sales of FSC wooden products.
